What is the difference between a book challenge and banning a book? A challenge is an attempt to remove or restrict materials based upon the objections of a person or group. A banning is the removal of those materials. Challenges do not simply involve a person expressing a point of view; rather, they are an attempt to remove material from the curriculum or library, thereby restricting the access of others.

Intellectual Freedom is the right of every individual to both seek and receive information from all points of view without restriction. It provides for free access to all expressions of ideas through which any and all sides of a question, cause or movement may be explored. Intellectual freedom is the basis for our democratic system. We expect our people to be self-governors. But to do so responsibly, our citizenry must be well-informed. Libraries provide the ideas and information, in a variety of formats, to allow people to inform themselves.

Our students are required to have a knowledge of and respect for Intellectual Freedom.

- Learners use skills, resources and tools to: Share knowledge and participate ethically and productively as members of our democratic society.

Intellectual Freedom is infringed upon by CENSORSHIP. "Censorship is the suppression of ideas and information that certain persons find objectionable or dangerous. It is no more complicated than someone saying, 'Don't let anyone read this book, because I object to it! 'Censorship occurs when materials, like books, are removed or kept from public access. Censorship also occurs when materials are restricted to particular audiences, based on their age or other characteristics."

"Not every book is right for each reader, but we should have the right to think for ourselves and allow others to do the same."

The presence of any particular materials in a library collection does not imply endorsement of the ideas expressed in those materials. The library is simply doing its job as a neutral provider of information from all points of view—if the library "endorses" anything, it is your right to have access to a broad selection of materials.
